Conditions for Participation

Children who want to participate in a VSF program are already demonstrating a certain amount of maturity by challenging themselves through this international adventure. Living in a community abroad where they will have to adapt to an entirely new environment further develops that maturity. We select participants on the basis of their readiness to fully participate in the program.

1- Campers must have a minimum of two years of French studies or the equivalent, must have attended a resident camp program before for one week minimum, and must have traveled outside their country of origin and experienced the "outside world" at least once, feeling comfortable with it.

2- At VSF we expect participants to be enthusiastic, cooperative and appreciative of the opportunities afforded to them through our programs.

3- Our goal is to offer a fun and educational experience within the boundaries of safety, common sense and the Law. Our rules are few but absolutely necessary and we will not be flexible about them, this for the safety and well being of all the participants.

4- Trips sometimes can operate under difficult or challenging conditions, and we expect participants to be cooperative and attentive at all times. VSF reserves the right to remove any camper from any camp at any time if he/she uses drugs, endangers the lives of other campers, or consistently disregards staff instructions.

Children who have an uncooperative attitude should not apply for our programs.

5- Children, during their stay in France are expected to maintain certain standards of personal behavior. Living within a group at camp can be challenging and campers are expected to actively participate and sometimes compromise some of their own needs for the common goals of the group. During the everyday life at camp (and especially on camping trips), they will be encouraged to take some responsibilities. For example, by making their beds or keeping their room/tent clean and tidy, or sometimes helping the counselors or the group in small chores (such as collecting wood for the campfire etc...).

6- During the trip or camp activities, campers must follow the stated instructional sequence and methods including but not limited to the wearing of helmets, lifejackets, seat belts etc... Also, unauthorized absence from the group is against the rules. Unsafe actions taken by any participant are ground for dismissal.

We would like to apply for VSF's Summer Camp Program 2010. The above conditions of participation have been read by my child or explained to him/her and were clearly understood and accepted.
